The biggest names and hottest trends

Eyewear does more than satisfy a medical need; it's also a fashion accessory. So, members look for designer-brand frames that match their personality and style. And they don't want to be limited to frame towers or a specific collection that they have to buy from. And with an enhanced provider search tool, members can even search for a provider by the frame brands and products they have available.

True blue protection

Cell phones, tablets, TVs and even fluorescent lights illuminate our digital world. With this new lifestyle trend comes new vision needs. And we're here to help. Now DeltaVision members have multiple options for purchasing eyewear with blue light filtering-technology for as little as $15 in-network.
