Historical Note

The Catholic Youth Council (CYC) was officially established in 1941, four years after National Catholic Welfare Conference established the National Catholic Youth Council. Archbishop John Joseph Glennon appointed Rev. Charles P. Maxwell as Director. Father Maxwell had already been instrumental in organizing the Boys Club of St. Louis, which later became Boys and Girls Club International. CYC was initially an inter-parochial sports program, and over the years has included baseball, softball, basketball, soccer, volleyball, track, table tennis, bowling and boxing. In addition, the program hosted an annual Sports Banquet and International Soccer Match against the CYC All Stars beginning in 1956. CYC Sports remains one of the main pillars within the Catholic Youth Apostolate.

Archbishop Ritter appointed Rev. Lloyd Sullivan as Director in 1947, and Rev. Louis F. Meyer as Assistant Director in 1948. It was around this time that CYC branched out beyond sports. CYC also headed Archdiocesan camps Mater Dei for Girls, Don Bosco for Boys and Rosary Villa Day Camp, and was involved with Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls. Among the many social activities it coordinated in the 1950s and 1960s were annual Teenage Coronation Ball, Family Fairs, Pop Concerts, Mardi Gras Ball, Eucharistic Youth Rallies, and more.

In 1955, CYC became a member of the National Catholic Youth Organization, and hosted the National Convention in St. Louis for diocesan youth organizations, where former President Harry Truman was a speaker. This also marked the first Teenage Board of Officers of the Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Youth (ACCY). The following year, the first annual Archdiocesan Convention was held. Also in 1956, CYC was officially incorporated with a Board of Directors.

Rev. Louis F. Meyer was appointed as Rev. Sullivan's successor as Director in 1960, and served until retirement in 1978. Rev. Lawrence J. Walsh was then appointed Director by Cardinal Carberry. The 1970s and 1980s saw a shift in the participation of youth in social programming (non-sports related) and engaged in new endeavors, including spiritual retreat weekends such as Search for Christian Maturity retreat which began in 1970. In the early 1980s, CYC assumed operation of the Ujima Youth Program for minority youth in the North St. Louis. Ujima had sprung from the North Area Youth Program in conjunction with the Human Rights Office.

Rev. Robert Rastberger served as Director 1983-1985. The Young Adult Ministry Program was formed in 1984 to minister to 18 to mid-30-year-olds. The Director of the new program was Jane Soehngen.

Mike Kalist was the first lay Director, and served 1985-2007. In 2005, the Catholic Youth Council and the Office of Youth Ministry were combined into the Catholic Youth Apostolate. In 2007, the youth agencies including CYC Sports, the Office of Youth Ministry and the Office of Catholic Scouting were also brought together under the umbrella of the Catholic Youth Apostolate, with Rev. John J. Borcic as Director.
